

The buildings and greenhouses as they appeared before construction.

Preparing the site.

Pouring concrete for the side walls of the ground floor.

Construction of the ground floor.

Preparing for construction of the first floor.

Construction of the second floor.

The addition during construction as viewed from the south.

The south entrance of the finished addition.

The finished addition and greenhouse complex viewed from Ross Hall looking north.